

Scrutinizing your vendors has never been more important than now. Kollmorgen is up to the test.

In the current economic climate, it's prudent to exercise care in selecting suppliers. Managing supplier risk to ensure continuity of supply is crucial. We welcome that scrutiny with absolute confidence in our strength. We're sure of our financial footing and operational agility. You should be, too.

Confidence Checklist:

- ✓ Is your supplier financially stable enough to withstand the current economic downturn?
- ✓ Does your supplier continually maintain a positive cash flow?
- ✓ Does your supplier scrutinize its suppliers?
- ✓ Is your supplier investing in innovation and new products despite current economic conditions?
- ✓ Has your supplier recently received positive ratings from financial analysts?
- ✓ Does your supplier manufacture near your destination markets?

Leverage Our Process of Continuous Improvement.

Danaher Business System. This is our proven model that drives the company to a never-ending cycle of continuous improvement in quality, delivery, cost and innovation. It's based on the Japanese principle of "kaizen" or continuous improvement. Using world-class tools, cross-disciplinary teams of exceptional people create and improve processes that result in superior performance.
